RUSH — TIME DATED

TODAY & TOMORROW

(Newsbriefs continued)

The Academic Senate Committee on Research is now asking for applictions for research grant proposals and requests for travel funds for the 1980-81 fiscal year.

During the past three years, the Committee on Research received an average of 122 applications per year and funded approximately 74% with an average award of $3,716 per grant, ranging from $600 to $17,977. A recent review of UCSF investigators previously funded by the Committee revealed that a total of $218,015 awarded to 57 individuals served as seed monies for a total of approximately $13.3 million in extramural funds, a demonstration of the seed character of these grants.

Funding is limited; therefore priorities will be given primarily to young investigators and those newly appointed to the campus whose requests for supplies and equipment are being made to establish their research programs. Scientific merit remains the primary criterion in assessing the application.

Before submitting a proposal it is important to obtain a copy of the detailed guidelines and the formal cover sheet, "Application for Research Funds" from the Academic Senate Office, 101 S, x1307.

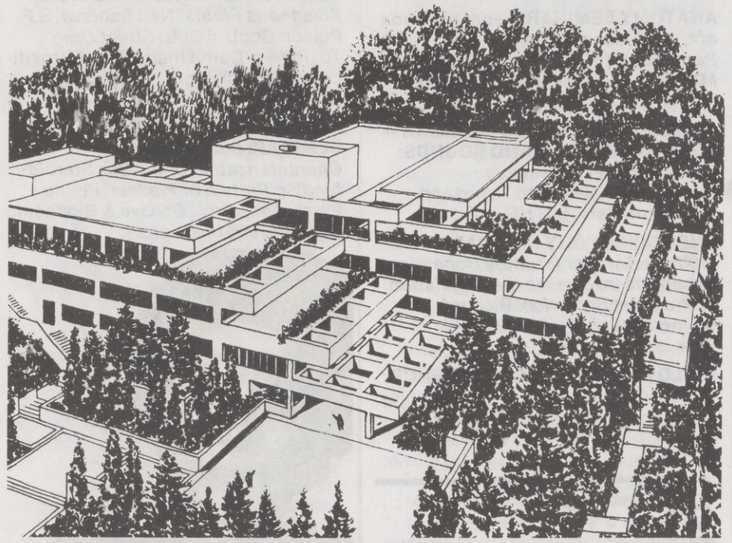
DEADLINE

Deadline for the next issue of Today & Tomorrow which will cover the period March 1-14, will be Tuesday, Feb. 19, 11 a.m. Please send your copy to Allen Balderson, News Services Dept., 1475-4th Ave., x2557.



The opening of the new School of Dentistry Building will be celebrated Saturday, March 8 at 10:30 a.m., with an official dedication. The campus community will have an opportunity for a special preview tour on Wednesday, February 27, from noon to 3 p.m. The public, patients and families will be invited to a special tour and open house on Sunday, March 16 from noon to 3 p.m.

Participating in the March 8 ceremonies will be UC President David Saxon, Chancellor Francis A. Sooy, and Dean Ben W. Pavone of the School of Dentistry. Keynote speaker will be the Honorable Leo T. McCarthy, Speaker of the California State Assembly, and Henry A. Foley, director of the Health Resources Administration, Department of Health, Education and Welfare.

Tours of the new building, refreshments, and demonstrations of various services will follow. Invited guests include national, state, city, and UC systemwide officials, members of the UCSF Dental Alumni, faculty including emeritus faculty, staff of the School, and deans of other dental schools.

UCSF's specially equipped, 24-hour, air and ground ambulance service for sick newborns has been expanded to include critically ill children and high-risk mothers. The transportation service responds to emergencies throughout California, Nevada, and southern Oregon, bringing such patients to Moffitt for special treatment.

The new program, which combines the resources of the pediatric, medical, surgical, and obstetric services, is called the "Pediatric, Adolescent, Neonatal, and Maternal Transportation Program." It is an expansion of the 10-year old Neonatal Transport Service, which now averages 250 emergency flights a year.

A new feature is a 24-hour hotline, which referring physicians and hospital staffs may utilize to consult directly with UCSF specialists at any time of the day or night.

Director for the new service is Barry Vinocur, head of the Neonatal Transport Service and former fellow in Pediatric Cardiology and Neonatology in the CVRI. He also will be in charge of the six-bed Pediatric Special Care Unit in Moffitt. Melvin Grumbach, professor and chairman of Pediatrics, was instrumental in the expansion of the services.

NEWS BRIEFS

A new Work Incentive Public Service Program (WIN) is being considered by the Personnel Department. This federally funded program enables persons on welfare to be trained in various departments on campus, with no cost to the department.

Since the conclusion of the last successful program, the Personnel Department has received a number of inquries from campus departments concerning additional WIN positions. In order to open contract negotiations, it is necessary to identify departments who may be interested in sponsoring a WIN position.

WIN participants are usually hired as trainee clerks, hospital aides, food service workers, and lab assistants, but other classifications are considered. Each WIN position can vary from 3 to 11 months, depending on the classification and the amount of training the department will provide.

At the end of the training period, a good faith effort must be made to help the WIN participant become a regular UC employee. A hiring commitment is not required.

If you are interested in sponsoring a WIN trainee, write Cynthia Fleischer, Personnel Department, U 12, no later than March 1. For further information call x4051.

A course on Adolescent Pregnancy will be held on Saturday, February 23 from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. in Room 729 N. Sponsored by Continuing Education in Nursing, the symposium will provide a theoretical update on physiological and nutritional consideration for adolescent pregnancy, labor, postpartum, and mothering. The relationships of nutrients to pregnancy and the unique aspects of age-related emotional needs will also be discussed.

The fee is $50, and six hours of credit are available. For further information call x1817.

The Morning Glory Theatre, a widely commended touring puppet troupe, will perform the Magic Twins, a hand and shadow puppet play, at Lone Mountain Auditorium, USF, 2800 Turk Blvd., S.F., on Saturday, February 23, at 7 p.m.

Co-sponsored by UCSF and USF, the program is the second in a series sponsored by the two universities, and funded in cooperation with the National Endowment for the Arts and the California Arts Council Theater and Dance Touring Programs. Future programs include Sausalito's Snake Theater scheduled for March, and Senta Driver, a N.Y. modern dance company in April.

Tickets are $1 for children under 14; $2 for students and Millberry Union members; and $3 general. For further information call x2019.

The VA Medical Center in San Francisco has been awarded two fellowship grants, out of a total of six available from the Veteran's Administration, to fund a multi-disciplinary training program in drug and alcohol abuse.

It is a two-year program offering clinical, teaching, administration, and research experience, and using the facilities of the VA, UCSF, including LPPI, SFGH, and the Haight-Ashbury Clinic.

Two applicants will be selected for the program each year. Physicians who are board eligible or board certified in psychiatry, neurology, internal medicine, or family practice may apply. Application deadline is March 15. For further information contact Nick Kanas, assistant chief, Psychiatry Service (116A), VA Medical Center, S.F., 221-4810, x588.

The next Blood Donation Day will be Monday, February 25. Donations can be made in the Mezzanine lounge area, School of Nursing building, 8 a.m. to 4 p.m., or the main lounge, Millberry Union, 10 a.m. to 5:30 p.m. Appointments may be made in advance by calling Moffitt Blood Bank, x4013.

A hospitalized patient may reap direct benefit from a blood donation or the donated blood may be earmarked for a UCSF Blood Bank Account, a UCSF Obstetrics Account, a personal account in the donor's name, or as a direct replacement in the name of any patient who has already received blood transfusions.

Once again the ASUCSF will sponsor the prize of dinner for two, with wine, at one of S.F.'s top restaurants. To be eligible, donors must drop their donation receipts in a box at either blood donation site.

Program evaluation in the health and human service equipment is the theme for a weekend symposium, February 23 and 24, sponsored by the Office of Continuing Education in the Health Sciences. Programs involved could be community mental health centers, family practice programs, social service organizations, and educational and research agencies.

Faced with limited funds and an increasing demand for service, directors of health and human service agencies constantly must review their objectives to see if they are being met. The symposium will focus on the systems, methodologies, and concepts for evaluating programs in terms of maximum service to the public, use of funds, and productivity of staff.

Speakers include C. Clifford Attkisson, associate professor of Psychology, LPPI, and Michael Scriven, university professor and director, Evaluation Institute, USF.

The program will be held in 301 HSW. Admission is $80, and advance registration is recommended. For further information call x2894.

The Human Concern Award has been given to the SFGH Trauma Center by the Western Insurance Information Service (WIIS). Donald D. Trunkey, UCSF professor and SFGH chief of Surgery received the award on behalf of the Center.

The award is given annually to an individual or group that has done outstanding work in protection of life and property in Northern California. WIIS is a consumer education organization supported by the property-casualty industry in the West.

SFGH Trauma Center has been credited with saving at least 10,000 lives in the last ten years. Trauma is defined as a violent injury, and is the leading cause of death among young Americans and the third leading cause of death among all Americans. In the past four years, according to Trunkey, 33 trauma victims, who could have been considered "dead on arrival" because they had no blood pressure, were saved.

A portable artificial kidney is now available to patients at the UCSF Renal Center at SFGH. Called "continuous ambulatory peritoneal dialysis" (CAPD), the new procedure involves implanting a catheter or tube in the wall of the abdominal cavity, which transfers cleansing fluid into the peritoneal membrane. The fluid mixes with toxics and after five hours is drained from the body into a plastic bag.

The new procedure involves a two-week stay in the hospital for the implant to heal, while the patient is trained in the home use of the CAPD method, and makes it possible to free patients from previously required six-hour sessions hooked up to a kidney machine. It costs one third of treatment at a hospital or center-based program, according to Patricia Schoenfeld, medical director of the Renal Center, who is in charge of the new program.

First pioneered at the University of Texas at Dallas, the CAPD procedure eventually will accomodate between 20 and 25 patients at SFGH.
